

1. Start: Conversion of input meshes into closed volumes

2. Calculation of specimen-specific coordinate reference system based on the geometry of the whole bone

3. Optimization of the location of bone segment most suited for mechanical testing

