Dear Dr Wang,

The conference does not hold rights to your work. However, we do keep the papers closed to the participants only to enable easier publication of the papers after the conference.

You are free to publish the paper in your repository, but it might mean that the paper will have to be severely modified if your paper gets invited to a conference journal special issue.

Best regards,

Marko

As the rights holder, I'd be grateful if you would give permission for the use stated above.

Please would you assist me by including the following in your reply:

- Confirmation that you are the rights holder
- Confirmation that permission has been granted
- Which version of the paper I may include
- Any other conditions that apply (e.g. must acknowledge the copyright holder)

Best wishes,
Kai
